

Carnegie Creators Online Bunny Buddies

How to use our Carnegie Creators activity pack....

As we are unable to run our Carnegie Creators' Spring programme at the museum, we've put together an activity pack so you can have some fun at home instead! We have four different activities for you to take part in, you can pick and choose or do them all - it's up to you!

We have included instructions, resources and some links to videos as well but first let's start with a story...

Andrew Carnegie and the Bunnies

Bunnies are really important to us at the Andrew Carnegie Birthplace Museum but do you know why?

When Andrew lived in Dunfermline, he had two pet bunny rabbits. As nature ran its course, he ended up with lots of baby bunnies to look after too but he did not have enough time to clean their hutches or gather food for them.

His parents told him he would have to get rid of them if he couldn't care for them so Andrew came up with an idea! Instead of giving the rabbits away he asked his friends to help him look after them and in return, he would name a baby rabbit after them. This way he got lots of help and got to keep all the bunnies! Andrew calls this his very first business idea!

Craft: Create your own bunny buddy

What do you need?

- A pair of old socks
- Stuffing e.g. paper, cotton wool, other socks/old bits of material
- Elastic bands or string/thread
- Scissors
- Sharpie or felt tip pens
- A piece of cotton wool
- Glue or sticky tape
- Scissors

Optional

- A piece of felt
- A piece of ribbon
- Googly eyes

What to do....

1. Fill your sock with whatever stuffing you have, leaving enough material for ears at the top. Use a rubber band or string above the stuffing to keep it in and use another around the neck to create a head.

2. If you have Googly eyes glue them on to the head or draw a face - eyes, a bunny nose and a mouth

3. Cut the top of your sock in half to make ears, you can snip off the corners to make them more ear shaped

4. Glue the cotton wool on the back to make a tail

Optional steps

5. Tie a piece of ribbon around your bunny's neck to give it a bow
6. Cut a circle out of your piece of felt and glue it on to the front of your bunny to give it a tummy
